

BOARD OF REVIEW
COMPLETING WORK

Session at Which Equalization of Taxes is Considered Will be Concluded July 6.

MANY APPRAISEMENTS MADE

Individuals Who Have Complaints to File May Appear Before Members at Any Time.

The Jackson county board of equalization which has been in session since Tuesday, June 7, is completing its work and will likely adjourn about July 6. The board is giving special attention at this time to the appraisal of corporations and other firms which come under its jurisdiction. The state board of taxation has original jurisdiction over public utilities and some other corporations of like character and the local board has no authority in fixing the assessments of such companies.

Quite a number of the representatives of corporations which come within the jurisdiction of the Jackson county board have been called before it to explain why their assessments for the coming year should not be increased. In a few instances the appraisements for 1920 have been reduced under the 1919 assessments, but in the great majority of cases they have been increased.

While the assessments for all the corporations have not been finally completed the following have been approved:

Central Pharmaceutical Company, Seymour, assessed at $23,300 for 1920 compared to $17,460 last year.

Nutter Gearwood Company, Seymour, assessed at $15,200 for 1920. Assessment last year was $12,500.

Seymour Manufacturing Company, Seymour, assessed at $64,700 in 1920 compared to $56,040 for 1919.

Seymour Woolen Mills, Seymour, assessed $217,540 in 1920. Assessment in 1919 was $220,500.

Farmers' Home Company, Seymour, assessed at $40,280 compared to $36,000 in 1919.

There are about forty or fifty corporations to be originally assessed by the local board. The representatives of most of these have been called before the board of review and were given an opportunity to explain why proposed changes should not be made.

The board of review also hears complaints of individual property owners who feel that their assessments have not been properly or fairly made by the deputy assessors. Comparatively few individuals have filed objections with the board at this session. It is suggested that property owners who have complaints to make appear as soon as possible so that the board will have ample time to consider the objections before the session is adjourned. Such complaints, it is suggested, should be filed at the morning sessions in preference to the afternoon sessions.

BE GUESTS OF LOCAL CLUB

Bean Blossom Club of Indianapolis Will Give Entertainment—Picnic Supper Planned.

The Seymour Rotary Club at its noon luncheon today voted to extend an invitation to the Franklin Rotary Club to be its guests at a picnic to be served at Shields Park July 20. The local club members were recently royally entertained at Franklin. C. H. Wiethoff announced that the picnic would be for the members of the club and their families. The ladies of the First Methodist church who have served the luncheons for the club will prepare a special picnic supper.

The local Rotarians also voted to invite the Bean Blossom Rotary Club of Indianapolis to come and give the entertainment for the evening. The program will be staged in the auditorium at Shields Park. The Bean Blossom Club furnishes a novel entertainment and all of the Abe Martin characters of Brown county fame will be here under the personal direction of Kin Hubbard, the originator.

The entertainment promises to be the most elaborate that has ever been given by the local club. The Indiana and Franklin Rotarians will Appeal for the Institution Made by Dr. G. G. Graessle in Address Before Rotary Club.

Emphasizing the value of the Schneck Hospital to the entire county and the requirements which must be met during the coming year if the institution is to continue its full measure of benefit to the community, Dr. George G. Graessle made an earnest appeal for the hospital in an address before the Rotary Club today. Mention of the hospital came at the close of a speech on "Surgery" which he was requested to make before the Rotarians.

Dr. Graessle gave a brief history of surgery, showing that it was used extensively long before the Christian era. He told of the progress that had been made in recent years and cited several illustrations to show its value to humanity.

Before concluding his address he referred to the growth of hospital work throughout the world. He spoke of the wonderful benefit which the Schneck Memorial hospital is to the community and then stated that the time is approaching when additional funds will have to be provided for its maintenance. Dr. Graessle said that the cost of each

New Pension Legislation Enacted in Favor of Veterans of the Spanish-American War.

PASSED BY CONGRESS JUNE 5

Disability Must Have Occurred During Service or Subsequent to Time of Discharge.

Spanish-American War veterans in this city are investigating new pension legislation which has been enacted in their favor. The law was passed by congress on June 5. Quite a number of the old Company K, which was formed of Jackson county men still live in Seymour or the vicinity and it is understood some of them have filed claims under the new act.

The law, according to those who have read it, provides that the disability need not have originated in the service, but may have been incurred since discharge. It provides that all persons who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the war with Spain, the Philippine insurrection and the China relief expedition, and who have been honorably discharged therefrom, and who are now or who hereafter be

FORMER JACKSON COUNTY
CITIZEN DIES IN IDAHO

John Kirby White, Brother of Mrs. Laban Estep, of Hamilton Township, Dead.

Mrs. Laban Estep, of Hamilton township, has received word of the death of her brother, J. K. White, at his home in Idaho, on Sunday, May 16. Tuberculosis complicated with other ailments caused his death. In 1913 he was appointed deputy pure food inspector for the state of Idaho and afterwards was advanced to the head of this department. In the reorganization of the state government he was appointed a member of the governor's cabinet as commission of public welfare and held that position up to the time of his death. During the funeral all the state house officers were closed as a tribute to his memory.

Mr. White was born in Jackson county, Indiana, where he received his early education. He became a telegraph operator following that profession until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in which he enlisted and became a sergeant major in troop 8, third cavalry, commanded by Col. Roosevelt. He went to Idaho about twelve years ago, where he soon became prominent in politics. He is survived by the widow, one brother, Lieut. C. W. White, U. S. N., two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Daab, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Linnie Estep, of Cortland.

ENTENTE TO MEET
GERMANS AT SPA

Allies Hope to Put End to "Bargaining" Over the Treaty of Peace.

ITALY'S ATTITUDE IN DOUBT

Indicated That Co-operative Action Among Allies Will be More and More Difficult.

By United Press.
London, June 29—Spa, where entente and German delegates will meet for the first time on a basis of equality, probably will be the last inter-allied conclave of major proportions, dealing with the Versailles peace treaty. The tentative date set was July 5.

International developments, since the San Remo conference, have been such that Premier Lloyd George is extremely anxious that Spa shall wind up "bargaining" insofar as the German treaty is concerned. Since the Italian cabinet crisis and the Frankfort occupation it has become evident that co-operative action among the allies is scheduled to be more and more difficult. Economic and commercial rivalry between the European countries, regardless of past affiliations, will again develop. Individual action, except in the case of Turkey and Hungary, with whom treaties have yet to be concluded, will enable each country to "mend its own fences."

While, according to officials close to Lloyd George, the German delegation at Spa will be met as equals and will be permitted to present their own case in their own way, they come with the distinct understanding that the peace treaty is not to be modified in any way.

"The meeting can be compared to a conference between two litigants,"

San Francisco, June 29—In his speech this afternoon accepting the permanent chairmanship of the Democratic national convention Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, vigorously assailed the Republican platform, declaring that: "It is an amazing jumble of ambiguities, inconsistencies, evasions misrepresentations, straddles and slanders. The Republican convention should have displayed the courage clearly to declare its policy, but it was frank only on one subject; namely, in singing a hymn of hate for the President."

"The platform is deliberately unfair in charging upon the Democratic administration all responsibility for military unpreparedness."

PRESIDENT IS HIGHLY PLEASED WITH REPORTS

Convention Action Serves as Tonic to Wilson, One Official Declares.

By United Press.

Washington, June 29—President Wilson today was described as "highly pleased" over the results of the first day of the Democratic national convention in San Francisco. One official at the White House said the convention news was the best tonic the President has had since his illness.

The story of the convention was received over the United Press leased wire running into the White House and carried to the President. Copies were made for other officials also and during the day a little group sat in the executive offices reading the dispatches.

Probably the most pleasing feature at the White House was the keynote speech of Homer S. Cummings. But what the officials regarded as of more practical significance was the apparent willingness of the convention to endorse the President and his administration.

It was said that if this sentiment of the convention continues to prevail it is probable that Wilson will have nothing more to say for rehabilitation until the convention has finally adjourned.

It was declared that Wilson has had no long distance telephone conversation with San Francisco since the convention opened.

Bryan May Carry Personal Fight for Bone Dry Plank to Floor of Convention.

By United Press.

San Francisco, June 29—It is still a Wilson convention. If there were any doubt about it after the spontaneity and genuine heartiness of the delegates in the "Wilson demonstration" at the initial session yesterday it was removed by the organization and action of the convention committees.

Pro-administration forces dominated all the committees. The expected fight against Senator Glass as chairman of the resolutions committee failed to materialize and his unanimous selection to that post indicated recognition by the insurgents of the inevitable.

The committee promptly proceeded to the selection of a sub-committee for the drafting of a platform which is composed almost entirely of Wilson men.

Bryan was excluded from membership of this drafting committee and has practically decided to make his personal fight for his bone dry plank on the floor of the convention.

LIVELY SCRAP OVER ISSUE

Bryan, Representing Prohibitionists, Criticizes Chairman Glass for "Quibbling."

By United Press.

San Francisco, June 29.—The wets won the first skirmish today before the resolutions committee of the Democratic national convention. By a vote of 27 to 25 a motion was adopted which forced the drys to present their side of the question first.

The motion and vote followed a lively scrap during the course of which W. J. Bryan charged Senator Glass, chairman of the resolutions committee, with joking and quibbling on a serious question.

Both wets and drys jockeying for the position, tried to make their opposition present their arguments first. Bryan said the wets ought to talk first because they were defending a change in the law.

Congressman Fabath, Illinois, and Bourke Cockran, New York, said the wets did not have any cause to propose and argued that Bryan and his supporters should open the hearing.

With both sides declaring that they were not seeking to reopen the question, Senator Glass tried to bring the bickering to a close by announcing that "if nobody seems to be heard on this matter we will proceed on something else."

Bryan, his eyes flashing, was on his feet immediately.

"This is no time for joking," he cried. "This is a serious question and we are not here to be ruled on our quibble."

"I resent that charge that I am quibbling," said Glass hotly. "You have stated and the other side has stated that you have nothing to present. Therefore, I would suggest that the committee had better proceed to hear others who do want to be heard."

Amid great confusion a motion was made that the drys talk first for thirty minutes and the wets then to have an equal time. Bryan tried to present an amendment so that the drys would have twenty minutes, the wets thirty, and the drys ten more, in which to reply but he was ruled out of order. He recommended a roll call on the motion which resulted in a wet victory by two votes.

PARK SERVICES.

The union services which are conducted annually by the City Ministerial Association at Shields Park, will begin next Sunday night. These services in the past have proved inspiring and helpful. The open air auditorium is an ideal place for such meetings affording many advantages over the smaller church rooms during the hot summer nights. The attendance at the park services has always been large and there is every reason to believe that it will be increased this summer.

During the summer addresses will be delivered by members of the Ministerial Association and at times well known speakers will be brought here for these meetings. Special attention is to be given to the music this summer. The ministers recognize the importance of music in these services. The congregational singing also has its place and is helpful in arousing the audience to a deeper religious devotion.

It is wholesome for the members of the various churches to worship together. All the churches are striving towards the same goal. They are all working for the same ends. There is a common unity among them and in these services the several congregations laid aside denominational lines and worship together. The park services are helpful from this standpoint.

There are many indications that the union services during the next two months will be the most successful ever conducted here. The success of these services cannot be measured entirely by the attendance as the wholesome effect and influence upon the entire community must be taken into account.

Authorities at Sing Sing say that shoes can be made there for $4.50 a pair which permits a reasonable profit. Which suggests that some of the alleged profiteers might be sent there for a little schooling.

Now that the government proposes to make a new two-cent piece, the treasury department will have to tell us what we can do with it.

Among the pleasant memories was the time when potatoes were so cheap that they were used as stoppers on oil cans.

It's a safe wager that Wilson regrets that George Washington established the two-term precedent.

one of whom has secured a legal judgment against the other. Both agree that the judgment is valid and just. The matter to be discussed is, How it can best be collected. This was the analogy drawn by a British official who will play an important part at Spa.

The German delegates, according to well-informed officials, will be requested to make the first overtures. Millerand and Lloyd George, it is believed, have already decided upon maximum and minimum demands.

Should the German estimate of their ability to pay fall within these limits, the conference will rapidly come to a close. On the other hand, if Germany's offer is below the estimate of the entente, her delegates will be given an opportunity to advance arguments and proofs in favor of their claims.

The general consensus among financial authorities at the present writing is that Germany will repeat the proposition made at Paris last fall by Brockdorf-Rantzau, namely, 5,000,000,000 pounds (nominally $25,000,000,000), with reservations bringing this sum down to approximately $7,500,000,000. Any such offer will be summarily dismissed.

Various estimates of what the allied reparation demands will be have been made. That most often mentioned in the British press is $25,000,000,000, while the French experts place it at $30,000,000,000. Original demands made by France at the Versailles conference amounted to $50,000,000,000, while Keynes' appraisal of Germany's liabilities scarcely exceeded $10,000,000,000. Lloyd George, it is understood, has been greatly influenced by Keynes' deductions.

Infringements of the treaty, varied and many, will also be subject for discussion at Spa. This excepts the disarmament clauses, which the allies decided at San Remo and the Hythe conference should not be allowed to lag. Any questions concerning disarmament not already under consideration will, of course, be permanently disposed of.

Advance preparations at Spa for the entertainment of the visitors have been completed. The British delegation will be located at the Hotel Balmoral, while Premier Lloyd George will be the private guest of Baron de Crahwes, burgomaster of Spa. The French mission will stay at the Grand Hotel Britannique; the American mission, if it appears, at the Hotel Rosette, and the Italian, Belgian and Japanese missions at private houses. The conference meets at the Chateau de la Fraunce, the residence of M. Pelzer-Cranx.

Failure of the United States to participate at Spa will be a great setback for the entente. The French hope of "immediate payment" is based upon the possibility of capitalizing Germany's reparation promises and disposing of the German bonds in the United States and Britain. Considerable wealth is in private hands in France, but French investors, after their experience with Russian war bonds, are loath to sink any considerable amount in German promises to pay.

According to American officials here, it is extremely unlikely that the United States will participate. At least, neither Ambassador Davis nor Ambassador Wallace at Paris has planned to go to Spa.

Italy's attitude at Spa is another angle that may cause difficulties. Until recently Italian officials have refused to recognize the Hythe and London conferences between Lloyd George and Millerand as anything but "informal personal meetings." Italy, they claim, must be consulted and agree to any international arrangement arrived at. Furthermore, Italy, who suffered as intensely, if not as generally, as France is also entitled to priority claims. And these must come from Germany as well as Austria, they declare. While not actively arrayed against Germany during the war, it is pointed out, the German army alone made the Austrian advance into Italy possible at ter the Isonzo and Caporetta offensives.

Italy also feels acutely the lack of coal, and France's recent arrangement with Britain, whereby the former is to secure the largest part of England's coal exports, has not created any too friendly feelings between the two neighboring nations. France's lien on the output of the Ruhr Valley, Italy also believes, is materially handicapping the reconstruction of the rest of Europe.

Unless all indications fail, Spa has possibilities of proving even less profitable than several previous conferences have been.

Your Telephone Rates

In telephone operations there are two great classes of cost labor and materials. And in each class we are facing just what every manufacturer, every manager, every householder is facing, the still prevailing high prices.

Our costs of furnishing service have practically doubled.

Our rates, inadequate before the war, are only slightly higher now.

First-class service cannot be furnished if our income is insufficient to pay the bills. Capital to expand and improve the plant and the business as a whole is not available if investors are not guaranteed a fair return on their money.

It is our duty to ask the Public Service Commission for adequate rates.

What will be the consequences if we must give up the expectation of improvement and advancement and settle down to a period of deterioration and decay?

patient in the hospital averages about $3.25 a day. Beds in the ward are obtainable at $2 a day while the highest price room in the institution is $4.50 a day. Many of the patients pay nothing for the service rendered and as a result the expenses of the institution are greater than its total income.

The county appropriates about $1,500 a year for the institution, the city appropriates about half that amount and the Ladies' Auxiliary contributes $1 a year per member for the support of the institution. Dr. Graessle praised the Auxiliary for its work and said that it would be almost impossible to conduct the institution without the assistance of the ladies.

Dr. Graessle said that a separate building or home should be provided for the nurses when not on duty. At the present time they have lodging in the hospital and if other quarters were provided for them three additional rooms would be available for patients. During the last winter the hospital was so crowded at several times that cots were placed in the hallways and patients were refused admittance. "This condition ought not exist in a community like this," said Dr. Graessle. "The hospital is for the benefit of the public and should be maintained so that it could meet the public's needs." New equipment is also necessary, he said.

The Rotarians were so impressed with the appeal of Dr. Graessle that they voted to make the hospital a special order of business for next Tuesday. At that time the situation will be presented more fully and plans will likely be devised to increase the revenue of the institution.

The Simplicity of a MAXWELL is Due to Special Steels

A Maxwell is a simple car. Its engine, axles, clutch, transmission and gears are the utmost in simplicity, which is the goal of scientific engineering.

Special steels have made this possible. They are steels made to Maxwell's own formulae, the result of thousands of tests and years of analysis.

These steels give a Maxwell the remarkable combination of extra strength and lightness in weight.

In this way complicated construction has been avoided. Simple design has naturally followed and to this simplicity rare strength has been added by the use of these special steels.

Strains, twists, thrusts, shocks and blows are protected against in many other cars by reinforcements, extra weight in metals used, and a design that obviously is anything but simple.

In a Maxwell this simplicity has made the car easier to build, and it therefore is better built, easier to drive, and easier to care for.

That this should win friends for Maxwell is almost too obvious to call attention to.

Nearly 400,000 persons now drive a Maxwell, which is a very definite endorsement.

THIS MAN INTENDS TO KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE

"In May or June, 1913, I sent to you and got four bottles which were worth many dollars to me. They enabled me to go to work again. I had lost 40 pounds, but these 4 bottles of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble gained back all I had lost and I feel like a new man since. I shall keep it in the house all the time." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All drug stores.

L. J. Estep, Acme, was a business visitor here Monday.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Few folks or families now living have not at sometime or other used this "Golden Medical Discovery" for the stomach, liver and heart. Over twenty-four million bottles of this tonic and blood remedy have been sold in this country.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

It is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first touch the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a consoling thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

The Midwest Engine is the first, fully developed, high speed heavy duty truck or tractor engine on the market.

(No. 9 of a series of informative advertisements relative to the Midwest Engine Company.)

WHEN your friends ask you about the Midwest Engine Company, tell them that Indiana produced the world's first high speed, heavy duty truck and tractor engine. Tell them, furthermore, that the Midwest Engine Company, with its almost incomparable facilities covering acres upon acres of ground, can not hope within three years to build even a percentage of these heavy duty, high speed engines which the truck and tractor industry is asking them to build. Whole industries have been built on lesser demands than that of the automotive industry for this single Midwest product.

Realize fully that this history making Truck and Tractor Engine is only one of many products bearing the Midwest "Dependable Power" nameplate; only one of the things entering into the notable Midwest success.

Clinton's smile vanished behind a look of blank surprise. "Gone?" "Yes—and all that money in Chicago in the bank is in your new name! That's what made me so cross at Charlie."

"I don't quite see the connection." "You don't? Of course it will be easy for you to explain about the money and—"

"Nothing easier if—Jove! Why didn't I think of it sooner?" he exclaimed, and he dropped the hairbrush. "See here, Miss Lowrie—"

"Miss Lowrie!" she reproved. He went on, unchecked: "You claim that I look exactly like your brother?" "There you go again! Don't be silly!"

He sprang up, clear of the eager arms that she sought to fling around him.

"No, wait!" he exclaimed, as she jumped up after him. "It's—it's not what you suppose—just the opposite." "Opposite!" she repeated.

"I said, I actually began to believe—to doubt my own identity. But at the Athletic club—Tell me. You say I look exactly like your brother. That must be so, because every one who knew him—Yet there's one thing. Had he any peculiar mark—a mole or scar, for instance—let us say, on his arm?"

"Why, of course. Everybody knows it; everybody has seen it when you play tennis."

"Seen what?" "Don't pretend! The mark on your arm below the elbow."

"Which arm?" "The girl's brown eyes began to dilate. "What—what makes you talk this way?"

"Which arm is the mark on?" he insisted. She replied in a half whisper: "The right."

He drew up the loose sleeve of his robe and held out his bare forearm. She stared at it incredulously.

"Well?" he queried. "It—it can't be that I'm—that it's the other?" she murmured.

He bared the left arm. "You see—Can there be a more positive proof of identity than such a mark as that on your brother's arm?—which is not on my arm?"

The vague dread that clouded her dilated eyes swiftly increased to a paralyzing terror. She stared at him as white-faced and immobile as a marble statue. Stricken with concern for her, he bent forward. Instantly her cheeks flushed scarlet with maidenly shame. She clutched wildly at her loose hair and fled to the door. In a twinkling she was out in the hall, with the door shut between herself and Clinton.

He had not moved. For some time he stood where she had left him. His body was motionless, but it was evident that his thoughts were in a whirl of almost violent emotions. Across his face, in quick succession, passed looks of bewilderment, pity, delight, tenderness. Last of all came contrition, and again pity, both of which merged into resolution.

From the closet he brought out his suitcase and the suit that he had worn on his arrival in town. Next came a rummage through the dresser and closet to restore to the suitcase the articles that had been taken from it. Some he could not find.

He dressed himself in the suit so neatly tailored by old Tillie, and glanced around the room, preparatory to closing the suitcase. The hairbrush, lying on the floor where he had dropped it, caught his eye. He picked it up and gazed at it several moments. He then went to the mantel, where stood the framed photographs of Ellen and Amy.

When he returned to his suitcase one of the frames was empty.

In a Box.

After half a night spent in weeping, alternately chilled with doubt and scorched with the shame of mortified modesty, Amy had at last fallen into the heavy sleep of exhausted nature. The morning sun found her still lying as she had flung herself in the abandon of her grief. Her face still had a little of the look of a child that has cried itself to sleep. Her hair lay across her tear-stained pillows in two exceedingly tight braids.

Her usual awakening time passed; an hour slipped by, and another. Still she lay fast asleep. At last old Tillie came into the room, looked doubtfully at the sleeping girl, went out, returned with a package, and, after a regretful pause, touched the broad white forehead.

The brown eyes opened slowly and looked up, clouded with sinner and the memory of grief. Tillie held out the package. "I'm awfully sorry to wake you, Miss Amy. But it's 'most ten o'clock and everybody's gone, and—"

"Ten o'clock?" "Yes, Missus Kirkland and Miss Ellen left half an hour ago, when they found Mr. Will was gone."

"He has gone! And they went—without telling me!"

"Missus Kirkland said you looked like you must've been ill in the night, and for me to let you sleep till you woke up. But when this came, I thought p'raps—"

"What is it?" asked Amy, holding out her hands for the package.

"I dunno. A messenger boy brought it. He wanted a tip because the wrong address had made him run all round Robin Hood's barn before he got here."

Like Pandora, Amy gazed uncertainly at the box—and ended by opening it. Within lay a new hairbrush, the duplicate of her own. She blushed scarlet, and was about to clap on the cover of the box when she perceived a note tucked in under the handle of the brush. She glanced apprehensively around her dainty pink room, and after several moments of hesitancy, drew out the note as if it were a bomb.

The writing was in a bold sharp hand, very unlike the copper-plate script of her brother:

"My dear Miss Lowrie:

"May I ask you to accept the inclosed brush in place of the one which, it seems, I carried off with me in my suitcase? I must also acknowledge having purloined one of the photographs from the mantel. My justification is that I need it to keep me mindful of my little sister's relationship to me until such time as my identity is established.

Very respectfully,

"RICHARD CLINTON."

She slipped out of bed and stole barefoot through the hall to the door of her brother's bedroom. She opened the door a little way and peeped across at the mantel. The frame of one of the photographs was empty. In the other she saw the beautiful serious face of Ellen.

She scurried back like a frightened mouse, hid the brush and note under her pillows, and popped into bed. When Tillie came up with the chocolate, the girl was cuddled under her coverlet with only the tip of her nose showing.

"Why, Miss Amy! You're not took worse, are you?"

"The light," came back a muffled voice. "Pull down the blinds, please."

As Tillie hastened to obey, the voice called after her: "Don't worry, I'll soon be all right now. Leave the chocolate. I'll get up in a little while. There's the postman's whistle."

Tillie hastened downstairs for the mail. When she returned Amy was

McADOO FORCES TO FIGHT "THE FIELD"

While the volunteers are pursuing their work of canvassing delegates the "board of directors" is understood to be concentrating upon strategy. So far as can be learned no definite decision has been reached as to whether McAdoo's name shall be formally placed in nomination. It was believed however Dr. Burris Jenkins will be permitted to go ahead with his nominating speech. With balloting expected to begin Thursday, political observers believed the McAdoo organization could conclude its work with a public demonstration either the night or morning preceding the voting.

The growth of McAdoo sentiment apparently has resulted in the convention resolving itself into the "field against McAdoo."

The result is that the situation practically has resolved itself back to the point where McAdoo formally withdrew. The organizations of Governor James M. Cox and Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer are now awake to the danger and may be expected to put up a bitter fight. Aligned against McAdoo, too, will be the faction controlled by Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, who may now be "off" Cox, but may be definitely regarded as certainly not "on" McAdoo.

Without working directly together, the Palmer and Cox groups are driving toward the identical objective—elimination of McAdoo.

It has been learned that the Cox and Palmer men are interested now in getting a statement from the White House on McAdoo's candidacy direct or indirect. Should he even by indirection give the impression he endorsed McAdoo immediately the "crown prince" ghost would rise up to haunt the McAdoo supporters.

On the other hand—well even McAdoo's most enthusiastic backers admit their choice would be thru. McAdoo's nomination can be said to be far from assured despite the fact he is generally conceded to be the strongest candidate at present. Cox has a strong machine that has weathered several hard collisions and Palmer will have a lead in the initial balloting that will come.

McAdoo adherents are still predicting that he will be put over on the fourth or fifth ballot, but there is every reason to believe that he still lacks the required 728 votes necessary for choice, counting second and even third choice delegates.

Theresa, daughter of Charles Murray, ReRiding township, is ill.

ROBINSON ASSAILS G. O. P. PLATFORM

Senator Robinson said: "Every one knows that the Republican party controlled the government for a long period prior to the inauguration of President Wilson, excepting a short time when the Democrats were in the majority in one branch of congress."

"If criticism of the pre-war national policy as to military preparedness, is justified, the censure must fall upon the Republican party. That party cannot escape the consequence of its course or win favor by falsifying the well known facts of history."

With regard to the Republican claim of a policy of economy the senator declared that "the absurdity of this boast is disclosed by the fact that one billion dollars in excess of the amount appropriated by the Democratic congress in 1916 has been authorized for the coming fiscal year. Besides, he added, "many manifestly necessary sums have been withheld to make a showing of economy."

The Republican plank respecting taxes, he characterized as manifestly insincere, and regarding the tariff he observed:

"The platform embraces no more amusing pleasantry than the admission that there is neither necessity nor justification for revision of the tariff."

"A big joker" was his characterization of the plank concerning profiteering laws," he said.

"It is not conceivable" he continued, "that the committee on resolutions will follow the example of the Republican committee at Chicago and bring in a report which on its face is dishonest and unfair. But if it should do so if it equivocates as to the main issue, the convention ought to reject the report and demand that the committee deal frankly with every issue which it chooses to advance."

Senator Robinson severely arraigned the Republicans because of the use of money in the recent pre-convention campaign.

Along lines similar to those followed by Chairman Cummings in his keynote speech yesterday, Senator Robinson lauded the Democratic administration for its legislative achievements as well as for its honesty and efficiency."

GEN. WRANGLE'S ARMY IS REPORTED DESTROYED

London, June 29.—The army of General Wrangle, anti-Bolshevik leader, in Crimea has been completely destroyed, according to a dispatch from Sebastopol today. The thirteenth Bolshevik army has captured the entire left flank on the Dniester River, the dispatch said.

A Moscow official wireless message said the new offensive launched by the Red troops against the Poles has put the second Polish army entirely out of action and cut the third army off from communication.

CONVENTION UNDER WILSON'S CONTROL

potent as evidenced by its concurrence in the national committee's decision in the Georgia and Missouri contests.

The selection of a committee on permanent organization of Joseph Robinson as permanent chairman is another evidence of the thoroughness of the administration's control.

As to candidates the situation has become apparently the "field against McAdoo."

Bryan said today "that he probably will not discuss the prohibition plank personally before the committee. He anticipates defeat, and is saving himself for the floor fight later. The sub-committee on drafting is dry, but it is pre-administration first."

When the resolutions committee met early today Samuel Gompers was scheduled to present labor remonstrances. Following him the wet and dry arguments were to be heard.

Claims of organized farmers were to be presented following the liquor argument and the Irish question was then to be taken up.

Following its organization last night the committee plunged into public hearings in an effort to get the platform ready to report to the convention next Wednesday.

The league of Women Voters of the Democratic party presented plank for federal aid for women in industry.

Governor Sam Stewart urged plans on reclamation, flood control extension of farm credits and education.

Miss Lucy Braham, Baltimore, urged the party to advocate establishing commercial relations with Russia. State Senator Cotletti, of New York, advocated a plank favoring Italy's claims in the Fiume and Dalmatian disputes.

END OF EIGHT YEARS MISERY

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Recovered.

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had an organic trouble and treated me for several weeks. At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and limbs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine and tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your vegetable Compound and your Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking them to advantage. You can use my name for a testimonial."—MRS.
